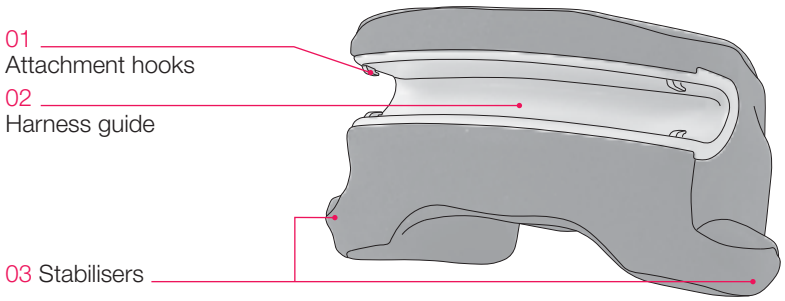
_ THANK YOU!

Thank you for purchasing a Concord quality product.
You will be amazed with the versatility and safety of this product.
We hope that you will enjoy using your new CONCORD PROTECTOR.

_ OVERVIEW



_ INSTRUCTIONS

CAUTION!

- Please read this user manual carefully before using the CONCORD PROTECTOR, and make sure to store it for later reference.
  Non-compliance with the instructions in this manual may affect the safety of your child!
  Make sure to also observe relevant instructions contained in the user manual of your vehicle before transporting children.

WARNING!

- Never leave your child unattended.
- The CONCORD PROTECTOR may only be used in conjunction with the CONCORD TRANSFORMER T or the TRANSFORMER XT.
- The CONCORD TRANSFORMER can be used without the CONCORD PROTECTOR, once the child has reached about 4 years of age or approx. 15 kg body weight.
- Children often carry small objects (e.g. toys) in jacket or pants pockets, and may also wear clothes with rigid components (e.g. belt buckle). Make sure that these are not clamped between the child and the harness, as this might cause unnecessary injuries in case of an accident. The same hazards apply for adults as well!
- Naturally, kids are often lively. Make sure to explain the importance of safety when in a vehicle. Your child will then understand that the harness lock should not be opened or the harness moved, giving you more peace of mind.
- Your child‘s safety can only be guaranteed if the safety attachment is attached and used in accordance with the instruction manual.
- The system‘s harness straps must be worn taut and without any twists, and must be protected against any damage.
- Protect any parts of the CONCORD PROTECTOR not covered with fabric against direct sunlight to prevent your child from suffering burns.
- The child restraint system must not be damaged or crushed by moving parts in the vehicle or by the vehicle doors.
- Do not attempt any modifications on the CONCORD PROTECTOR, as these might infringe on your child‘s safety.
- After an accident, the CONCORD PROTECTOR must be replaced or sent to the manufacturer for testing, along with an accident report.
- Make sure to instruct your passenger on how to remove the child from its safety seat in case of accident or danger.
- Never leave your child unsupervised in the car seat - whether harnessed or not.
- Make sure to secure any luggage and loose items in the passenger cabin to reduce the risk of injury in case of an accident.
- The manual must always be carried with the child safety seat.
- The use of any accessories or replacement parts is prohibited, and non-compliance will result in a lapse of all warranty and liability claims. Excepted are original accessories by CONCORD only.
- Suitable for vehicles with lap and diagonal seat belt, which have been approved in compliance with ECE regulation 16 or similar standard.

Due to prolonged use of the CONCORD PROTECTOR, seat covers and other use parts will wear depending on duration and intensity of use to varying degrees, and will have to be replaced. We can therefore not provide any blanket warranty beyond 6 months for wear parts.

Please contact your specialist shop for baby and children‘s products, the relevant department in department stores, your car accessory specialist shop or the catalog company, where you originally purchased the CONCORD ABSORBER for replacement parts. These will have a complete product portfolio for CONCORD child seat accessories to choose from.

The vehicle‘s seat belt lock must not be placed over the edge of the arm rests. If in doubt or in case of difficulties with our product, please contact CONCORD directly. The vehicle‘s seat belts must be placed at the positions and contact points on the safety seat as shown in the user manual. Any other seat belt placement is prohibited.

If the seat selected for mounting the child seat is equipped with an airbag, we recommend moving the seat as far back as possible. For vehicles with front and lateral airbags, read the relevant instructions provided in the vehicle manual.

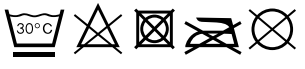
- This child safety unit was approved in accordance with the stricter requirements of the class ‚universal‘ than previous models, which do not bear this label.
- If you have any questions or doubts, please contact the manufacturer of the child safety unit or your retailer.
- Only suitable for use in vehicles with lap and diagonal seat belt, which are approved in accordance with ECE regulation 16 or similar standard.

_ CARE TIPS

The cover can be removed for washing.
Make sure to leave the cover to dry completely, before reattaching it!
When attaching the cover on the CONCORD PROTECTOR, pull it over the top of the unit and tuck the surrounding groove at the harness guide (02).

- The cover material colour may run slightly when wet, in particular during washing.
- Do not use solvents on the cover!

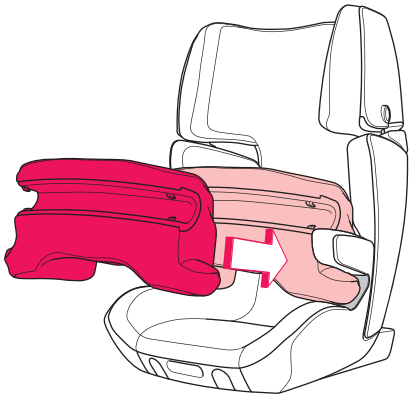


_ USING THE CONCORD PROTECTOR

Mount the CONCORD TRANSFORMER on the vehicle seat as described in the user manual. Comply with all the instructions contained in the user manual of the CONCORD TRANSFORMER.

Place your child onto the seat of the CONCORD TRANSFORMER as far back as possible.

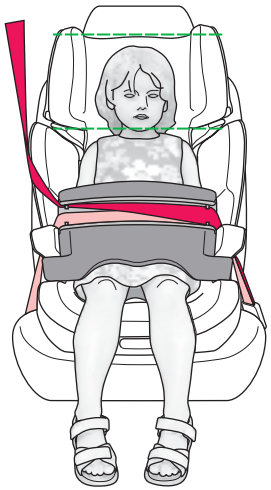
Place the CONCORD PROTECTOR onto the CONCORD TRANSFORMER so that the stabilisers (03) are level with the harness guides of the CONCORD TRANSFORMER. Push the restraining body backwards until the stabilisors (03) are flush with the red markings on the harness guide.



CAUTION!

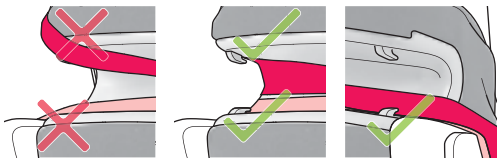
- The CONCORD PROTECTOR may only be used in conjunction with the CONCORD TRANSFORMER T or the TRANSFORMER XT.
- Ensure that the stabilisors (03) are positioned correctly in the harness guides of the CONCORD TRANSFORMER!
- The CONCORD PROTECTOR must not be attached at an angle, askew or back to front!

Run the lap and diagonal belt from the CONCORD PROTECTOR to the lock and close the seat belt as with an adult.
(An audible click will signal proper locking.)



Now position the seat belts correctly.
Run the lap and diagonal seat belts through the harness guide (02) on both sides. Hook the seat belts into the attachment hooks (01).

The diagonal belt will run along the front edge of the side protector, and the lap belt over the arm rests of the CONCORD TRANSFORMER.



The seat belt must not be laid out in any other way.

CAUTION!

- The seat belts must be positioned securely behind the attachment hooks (01)!
- You must always use the size adjustment on the CONCORD TRANSFORMER to adapt the seat to the size of the child, when using the CONCORD PROTECTOR!
- Tighten first the lap belt and then the diagonal belt.
- Ensure that the seat belts are snug and not twisted.
